AN ARKANSAS MARRIAGE.

At Big Croek, Arkanasa, they have a peculiar fashion which sometimes proves embarassing. As there is no preacher within thirty miles, the way for marrying is kissing across a table. Recently a No. York drummer was out there. He put up at a private house and became quite intimate. One evening he was fooling around one of the girls trying, generally trying the extent of her sweet. the other side, making a wild plunge, ad but the cash which remains after examples and such that in his arms and gave her a hearty kiss. She then sat down on the sofa, and they talked pleasantly for a couple of hours—he thinksing it singular that she should sit up made. That which goes to support GRANGERS, ATTENTION!

At last she said, 'Don't you think it's about time we went to bed ?"

She lit a candle, and he was about to do the same, when she said, 'I recken one's enough. One candle will light two folks to bed."

Undoubtedly it would, when those two people occupy the same room. But your candle won't illuminate my
